

KNEWITZ RIESLING
RHEINHESSEN TROCKEN
2016

Serious substance and creaminess for a basic dry riesling. Smoky and herbal character, too, of the kind you expect in high-end wines of this kind. Real depth at the finish. Drink now.

APPENHEIMER TROCKEN
2016

This understated wine has an impressive depth and a nice creaminess. The crisp finish is rather mineral. Better from 2018.

HILBERSHEIMER TROCKEN
2016

The tannins in this make it a little chewy, but there's no denying the ripeness and it will certainly be better after a year or more of further ageing.

HUNDERTGULDEN TROCKEN
2016

A stunning single vineyard dry riesling which reminds me of some top Alsace wines, but with a citrusy freshness that they often lack. The austere mineral finish goes on and on. Drink now.

KNEWITZ RIESLING
RHEINHESSEN STEINACKER
TROCKEN 2016

Still rather tight and very crisp, this is a young dry riesling with a striking licorice and lemon character, but also plenty of earthy power. If you aren't afraid of acidity this will be very rewarding from 2018 onwards.
